Plectron Alarm New For Fire Department

Plectron alarm system, a new one-way high frequency tone system, was installed last Thursday at the Canyon Fire Department and is now in service.

The $5,000 system is the most modern alarm available to volunteer fire departments, according to fire captain Joe Rice. It is made up of a high frequency tone generator installed at the fire station, 55 receiver sets for homes and businesses of the 30 volunteer firemen, and a tie-in with the sheriff's office.

Plectron alarm is expected to improve efficiency greatly, Rice said, by enabling volunteers to receive news alarms faster and be sure not only of the signal but the location of a fire. The new system will also reduce insurance rates of Canyon citizens to some extent.

Cost of receiver sets is approximately $90 per set. Special buttons on the tone generator control the number of sets receiving a signal, so that the system may be used to alert only the ten man rescue unit.

Rice noted that the system can be expanded to control anything that works from a switch, from street lights to electric toasters.

Educators Meet At WT Friday

Superintendents from 26 counties of the Panhandle will meet Friday at West Texas State University to discuss special education, announced Dr. Emmitt Smith, head of the Correspondence and Extension Division of WT.

Dr. Fred Stoker, who will become head of the WT Education Administration Department in September, called the meeting. Such a gathering is routine among school administrators of this area when new developments or programs appear in the education field.

First session of the meeting will be at 10 a.m., when the group will study the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965 and its implication in the Panhandle. Dr. Smith will serve as consultant.

The act is designed "to enrich the educational opportunities of deprived children," said Smith, and was signed by President Johnson in April of this year. According to Smith, 1960 census in the 26 counties shows approximately 8500 children as being from homes with less than $2000 income yearly.

Following a luncheon, the superintendents will conduct a study in latest development, new programs and other phases new to special education. Consultant will be Don Partridge, director of the Division of Special Education of the Texas Education Agency in Austin.

It is hoped that it will be used in the near future to control all stoplights in Canyon, he said.

Sirens will be replaced by Plectron alarm on fire calls, but siren signals will remain the same as they will be used on a standby basis. When necessary in fire calls, two blasts of the siren signals a daytime fire and four blasts a nighttime fire. Eight blasts is used for tornado alert, while six means all clear.

Absence of the usual sirens will leave the average citizen unaware that volunteer firemen are rushing to a fire. This could be hazardous if people are not cautious when streets are unusually busy, Rice said.

Plans were begun in 1962 for purchase of the system and it was ordered through Plectron Company of Overton, Nebraska, in April of this year. It was Approximately six area riding clubs are expected to participate in the all-day affair.

Upcoming parades and grand entries for the local club include the Swisher County Celebration at Tulla July 17 and the celebration in Hereford, July 31.

Census Is Underway

Personnel are compiling a census of elementary age children in south Amarillo this week.

The announcement came from Oscar Hinger, principal of Rex Reeves Elementary School in Canyon.

"The census will be a house to house drive," stated Hinger. "New homes are being built all over south Amarillo and a lot of them will have children in elementary grades that aren't accounted for on our spring school roll."

The census is expected to be completed within about two weeks according to Hinger.

Grass Growing, Cattle Fat Ground Wet, Crops Great Prospects Bright Says County Agent

Randall County agricultural outlook is about the brightest it has been during this decade, according to County Agent John Brazzil.

Brazzil noted that the wheat crop is in, grain sorghum is planted, moisture is good, grass is lush and cattle prices are high.

"Range pasture and livestock is the brightest part of the economic picture in this county," Brazzil declared. "Cattle are doing well and prices are good."

Brazzil said livestock in one form or another account for from 45 to 50 percent of the agricultural income. "Most farmers in the county are also in the livestock business to some extent," he said.

He said calf prices are the highest in the past three or four years.

Calf stuff of good quality is bringing 28 cents. The same calves were bringing about 20 cents last year, Brazzil declared.

"This is a big percentage jump in a year's time," he asserted. "The feed and grain picture looks good at the present time."

Brazzil said there was little loss of wheat from weather in spite of stormy periods during harvest. He said dryland wheat this year averaged from 8 to 10 bushels an acre while some yields up to 17 bushels were reported in the county.

"We were worried about getting grain sorghum planted a week ago," Brazzil went on. "But that's in now. It's a little late but it's in. We'll be ready for some more showers in a week or so."

Brazzil said farm land has a good subsoil moisture content.

"We've been resting our irrigation wells the longest in three or four years at this time of summer," he declared. "That's a big savings in both money and underground water."

Pioneer Theatre Gains In Audience Interest

Tourist interest and enthusiasm for Pioneer Amphitheatre production "Thundering Sounds of the West" continues to grow as the epic enters its third week.

Attendance figures for the holiday weekend showed audiences of 500 Saturday, 700 Sunday and 600 Monday. Overall attendance has been strong following bad weather during the drama's first week, reported Mrs. Ples Harper, president of Texas Panhandle Heritage Foundation.

Audiences have been predominantly tourist the past week as out-of-state visitors have made trips to see the show. Other families have returned second and third times to bring more guests.

Musical entertainment in "Thundering Sounds" changes constantly, although the essential story of the historical development of the Golden Spread remains the same. Flexibility is present in stage numbers, explained Mrs. Harper, due to a repertoire of some 15 specialty numbers among the cast, including solos and group numbers.

Four or five of the special numbers are selected each night for presentation, allowing continual change of music and featured performers.

During the Independence Day weekend an old-fashioned fireworks display was added to the program. Sparklers and firecrackers lined the area and rockets were fired from the top of the 800-foot bluff.

Mrs. Newton Harrell reported the display was clearly visible from her home near Claude, 18 miles across the

Mr. Pepper Sells Salt

Believe it or not?

A salt salesman by the name of Pepper lives in Canyon.

"People never seem to forget my name," said J. W. Pepper. "They just seem to naturally associate my name 'Pepper' with 'Salt' which is my business."

Pepper, who has lived in Canyon for some 14 months, moved here from San Angelo with his wife, Jerri, and their five year old daughter, Mary Ann. The couple lives at 2605 12th Avenue.

"I have worked with the salt company about 4 1/2 years," said Pepper. He is presently territorial manager for The Salt Supply Company and United Ranchhouse Salt.

"We sell all types of salt from table salt to stock salt," Pepper said. "The company sometimes gives miniature salt shakers filled with their product. I've often thought of filling the salt shakers with pepper to give to my customers."

Grow Beard, Group Warns

Canyon Junior Chamber of Commerce will sponsor its annual beard contest in connection with the Randall County Old Settlers Reunion to be staged in Canyon August 6-7.

Shaving permits are selling at $1. A permit may be purchased from any Jaycee member. Anyone caught without either a shaving permit or a beard will be dunked in a horsetank during the celebration roundup according to Carl Miller, Jaycee chairman.

FROM THE CANYON RIM

Last week we published our summer baseball edition. As usual, there were some over-sights and because schedules failed to mesh, some boys and girls who have contributed much to the program did not get their pictures in the edition at all.

A good example is the case of Craig Parker. Craig plays with the Babe Ruth Giants and saw as much action as any 13-year-old boy in the league. Craig has a busy summer schedule because he participates in a great deal more than baseball.

Through some communication failure Craig wasn't on hand when the picture of his team mates was taken. We have reason to believe that a number of other boys failed to make the edition for various reasons.

We intend to remedy this next year if at all possible by scheduling pictures by league well in advance. In the meantime, our apologies to the boys and girls we may have missed this year.

If you've been lamenting the lack of youthful responsibility, take note.

Johnny Warren, 15 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Warren, is hiring out to mow lawns this year. He takes his work seriously.

A few days ago he was mowing the lawn at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Cundiff. The weather was hot and Johnny was thirsty.

Mrs. Keith Jones, who lives nearby, asked him if he would like to have a Coke.

"I'd like to have one, Mrs. Jones," Johnny replied, "but I'm working by the hour and I can't stop for one now."

After the mowing job was done and Johnny was on his own time, he sat down and enjoyed a cold Coke, a clear conscience and knowledge of a job well done.

Two more boys who are working hard this summer are Ricky cotton chopping jobs for the summer, they would have been at home asleep instead of drunk in Llano Cemetery the night it was vandalized.

Teaching children to work may not solve all juvenile delinquency problems but it will go a long way toward that desirable accomplishment.

Children who work usually are children of parents who work and parents who work—like their children have less time to get into trouble themselves.

My philosopher friend, Mitch Jones, says children always learn most by example. I'm inclined to agree with him.

J.E. Haley Is Honored

J. Evetts Haley, Sr., Canyon writer and historian, was honored Tuesday with a chuck wagon supper at the Haley ranch at Sallisaw, Okla.

The Sallisaw ranch is operated by J. Evetts Haley, Jr. Several guests including Tom Anderson, publisher; Dr. Robert Morris, attorney; and Judge Jim Johnson of the Arkansas supreme court, spoke at the supper.

Busteed With Mets

Wallace Busteed didn't get his picture taken with the Mets of the Little League because he was away with the National Guard at the time the picture was made.

Wallace is an assistant coach of that team under Burl Brim. Burl coached Wallace when Wallace was 12 years old and a little leaguer during the first year of the summer baseball program here at Canyon.

Mrs. Lassiter Is Secretary

Mrs. Ruth Lassiter has been employed as secretary in the office of County Agent John Brazzil.

She replaces Mrs. Mary Ruggles who resigned recently. Mrs. Lassiter formerly worked in the county clerk's office.

Right To Work Law

(An Editorial)

Soon Congress will have an opportunity to vote on retention or repeal of Section 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Act.

It is important that every citizen have at least a basic understanding of this section. It simply provides that the legislatures of the various states may enact right to work laws.

Texas is one of the 19 states which has such a law. The Texas law forbids a union to demand a union shop as a condition of signing a labor agreement.

A union shop provision would require all workers represented by a union in a given plant to join and maintain union membership in order to continue working in that plant.

Evils of enforced union shop may be manifold. Workers should join unions because they believe it is to their best interests to do so, not because they would be forced out of work and put on a soup line if they fail to pay tribute to some union caesar.

The services of a labor union should be sold, like any other services, because they are valuable. Outlaw the right to work law and the union need not produce anything in order to sell its wares.

We believe in labor unions. To be without them would spell disaster for this country. However, we believe labor unions should exist for the benefit of their members, industry and society in general, rather than for the benefit of a very few who might manipulate them from the top.

Shadows of big labor bosses such as Hoffa and Reuther already fall ominously across the nation's economic and political landscapes. Repeal of 14(b) would lengthen those shadows.

Those who work most diligently for repeal of 14(b) are not seeking benefit for the laboring man. Not they seek power, power and more power.

Chipping Away At Rights

(An Editorial)

A great many laws are being passed and a great many administrative decisions are being made these days in the name of "civil rights." It seems to be an obsession in this country that nobody is discriminated against, that everybody gets put into the same footing.

And in the process of guaranteeing everybody the same rights, some other equally precious rights are being trampled.

The U. S. Commissioner of Education has just stated for the federal government a doctrine that would employ the civil rights act to stop racial discrimination by college fraternities in the selection of their members.

The fraternities and sororities have it straight: Take Negroes into membership or have your doors closed.

The club over the fraternities head is federal money. Colleges and universities, in the commissioner's view, would be required to compel fraternities to cease such discrimination, by race, or remove their chapters from the campus. If they don't the federal government will halt its grants of funds to the institutions where an offending fraternity has chapters.

Since all universities take federal funds, this means all are included. The universities have orders to straighten out the fraternities or lose their funds.

This is a case in point where the federal government is stretching the civil rights act way out of line in order to compel integration of the races.

There are areas where discrimination is legal, where it is practiced, and where it is logical.

Fraternity membership is just such an area.

A fraternity is by its nature a discriminatory organization and its right to select its membership is basic to its existence. A college administration has the right to bar fraternities, and to exercise some control over their activities, but it does not have a right to dictate their membership policies.

This doctrine of the U. S. Commissioner of Education can probably be enforced, since the federal government is all powerful and money exercises a powerful medicine these days.

But it is wrong.

A college fraternity is a private club, and it is no less one because its members are students. A fraternity has the right to invite members on any basis they choose. There is no such thing as a "right" to fraternity membership as a lot of white students have found out when they didn't make the fraternity of their choice following rush week.

We suppose that the next step, or maybe this step is already with us, is that the Masonic Lodge will receive orders to take in some Negro members, or female members, or other groups not now admitted to membership.

We suppose that the government can make the Lions Club, the Rotary Club and the Kiwanis Club admit members on standards set up by the government instead of the clubs themselves.

And what about the Negro that the government wants to include in fraternity membership? Will a Negro feel comfortable as a member of an organization that did not invite him, does not want him? Will the government compel him to join whether he wants to or not? Who pays his dues? There are a lot of problems that can arise from a public policy as announced by the U. S. Commissioner of Education.

Private clubs are discriminatory. To declare them anything else is to destroy them.

Calvary Baptist Church Groundbreaking Held

Calvary Baptist Church observed groundbreaking ceremonies at the new church site, Eighth Avenue and 8th Street, Sunday following regular church services.

Rev. Jack Boyett, pastor, turned the first shovelful of dirt with assistance from D. C. Lindley, building committee chairman, and Leroy Miller, chairman of the planning and survey committee.

Approximately 20 original charter members were present for the official ceremonies along with some 130 church members and guests. Among charter members attending from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Ed Watkins of Kress, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Reynolds of Tulsa and Donnell Ruthart of Amarillo.

The new church site was dedicated on the 13th anniversary of the organization of the church. Calvary Baptist Church was begun in July 1952 as a mission of the First Baptist Church of Canyon.

The new building will include some 11,814 square feet and has been contracted by RAR Homes of Canyon for $81,000. Expected completion date for the new facility is October 1.

Bozett, who has been in Canyon 2 1/2 years, said the educational space will be large enough to accommodate 400 persons and the auditorium will seat some 465 persons.

"The church membership voted several weeks ago to make $10,000 in bonds available to the public," Bozett explained. "These bonds will bear six per cent interest and about 50 per cent of the bonds will mature in 10 1/2 years."

"We have a list of shorter term bonds available also," Bozett said. "The short term bonds will be sold on a first come-first served basis."

"Persons wishing to purchase bonds may contact me at the church office and get their name on the list," Bozett stated.

Knox is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Knox of Canyon. He attended Canyon schools and became a recording star while a student at West Texas State University.

While in California he plans to visit with his sister, Verdie, and later in the summer will spend a month touring Canada.

Mrs. Lee Foster was in Colorado Springs, Colorado, last week to visit with her daughter and family, Lt. and Mrs. Jimmy Brasher and children, Lesley Lynn and Bradley Bruce. Foster joined the family over the week end. While in Colorado, the Fosters also visited with Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Smith, of Cascade, formerly of Canyon, and viewed the fireworks at Manitou. They returned to Canyon Monday, bringing their granddaughter with them for a stay. She will also visit the F.V. Brashers of Canyon.

When a fire is reported, a dispatcher will push selected buttons on the tone generator, sending the signal out through receivers. Following the signal instructions will be given by one-way voice communication, and firemen will then go to the station or scene of the fire.

Canyon Fire Department has six fire trucks ranging from a large, almost new pumper to a stationwagon equipped with an ambulance and rescue vehicle.

The rescue section of the department also has a boat and a vehicle known as a weasel. The weasel, built something like a small tank, is used for rescue operations during extremely bad weather or when rough terrain must be traversed.

In 1964 a booster truck was purchased and equipped. On order now for March, 1966, is a heavy fire engine which pumps 1,000 gallons per minute. It is unique in that it runs on diesel power. It will be the third engine of that type in Texas and costs approximately $27,000.

The entire communications system is tied in with an emergency generator. Regardless of power failure or disaster, the system will still operate as long as the station is intact.

Fall and winter fires are expected to be especially numerous and serious this year when the great amount of grass and weeds begins to dry. Rice said. He advised that citizens begin now to keep property mowed during the summer.

"This will make it a lot easier on both them and us," he added. "Now is when it could and should be taken care of. It costs the department and firemen a total of $300 for every fire call, and we answer an average of 240 calls each year."

Rice estimates that calls average 50 per cent for the city area and 50 per cent for the county.

Foundation reports continued block ticket sales to groups of various sizes and types. A bus load of Girl Scouts from Garden City, Kan., made a recent trip, expressly to see the production as an example of spectacular outdoor entertainment.

Sunday School groups have been reported, and members of the Cosmopolitan Club, foreign students at Amarillo Air Force Base, and Boys' Ranch have also scheduled visits. Two USO groups will be entertained July 31.

Technical operation of the show has been smooth, said Mrs. Harper. A four-track tape recorder ordered more than eight months ago to coordinate sound for the production failed to arrive on time for the opening.

Six tape recorders had to be used simultaneously, causing a great deal of extra activity and bother, she explained.

The new recorder is now installed, however, and completely integrated into the production system, resulting in a well-controlled and coordinated presentation, Mrs. Harper reported.

Performances are presented nightly, except Tuesdays, at 8:15 o'clock.

Jerome Edwards of Houston visited with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J.A. Edwards, and other friends during the Independence Day week end.

The county agent said the county has more than 1,000 "wet weather" lakes.

Brazzil said these will be good sources of cheap water during the crop year.

He pointed out that these surface lakes provide even better irrigation water than do wells. He said lake water is at a better irrigation temperature during summer months and also contains organic matter that will serve to some extent as fertilizer.

ITEMS OF INTEREST TO Women

Mrs. Gene Johnson, homemaker of the week, checks over some tomatoes which are rapidly ripening on vines at the Johnson home. Mrs. Johnson, known as Helen to her associates, is the mother of two children, both of whom profess a great interest in baseball. Helen spends much of her time collecting recipes, and cooking, which she "really enjoys doing," as she states.

Mrs. Gene Johnson Recipe Collector

BY PHYLIS BONNIE

"I'm just literally a fiend for collecting recipes."

These words come quite naturally from our homemaker of the week, Mrs. Gene Johnson.

Mrs. Johnson, the mother of two, her husband, brother, and mother, have been residents of Canyon since last August.

"Before that," relates Mrs. Johnson, called Helen by her friends, "we lived in Hale Center, where we farmed for my dad."

Her father is now farming in Parnell, Texas, while her mother, Mary Walton, and brother, Bobby Hulsey, live with the Johnsons.

"Both Gene and Bobby are employed with RAR Homes of Canyon," Mrs. Johnson says.

Gene has six brothers and three sisters, besides his father.

Brothers Joseph and Roy live in Colorado, Henry in Amarillo, Bill in Bakersfield, California, Melvin in Silverton, and Jackie is overseas with the Army, Helen relates.

"Also, there's Mrs. JoAnn Daugherty and Mrs. Tommy Russell, both of Amarillo and Mrs. Mae Owensby of Charlotte, S.C., where Gene's dad also lives."

The Johnson's children, a daughter Elaine, age 13, and a son, Ricky Doyle, age 10, profess a profound interest in baseball.

"Elaine plays on Olson's Jaguars in Kiwanis Girls' Softball League this year, and Ricky plays baseball, likes riding horses and is also taking swimming lessons," says Helen.

"Also, Ricky is a Cub Scout, and I worked as a den mother last year. He belongs to Den 2, Pack 31, which meets at First Presbyterian Church."

The family holds membership in Randall County Sheriff's Posse and especially enjoys riding together, Mrs. Johnson says.

All the Johnson family are members of Grace Baptist Church in Amarillo.

Mrs. Johnson mentions her hobbies—"I love to cook, and collect recipes, also to sew. I sew mostly in the winter though, since I'm out gardening a lot in the summer."

For readers this week, Mrs. Johnson gives recipes for Beatnik Cake and Mystery Pie.

Canyon Resident Former Musical Comedy Dancer

BY LINDA LOVE

Some years ago Della Romaine sang and danced her way from New York to New Orleans.

Miss Romaine performed with musical comedy troupes headed by names that recall an era of bright stage shows and colorful revues—names like that of Robert Emmet.

"When we went on the road, our company had a private railroad car," remembered the former ballerina. "We traveled on Sundays, and when we arrived in town for a performance, we always had reservations in the very best and grandest hotels of the city."

"We started in Montreal," she continued, "and traveled south, playing cities along the way down to New Orleans."

Miss Romaine's married name is Mrs. Della Prince. She lives now at La Casa Canyon Convalescent Home.

Among many pictures and momentos of her stage career, Mrs. Prince keeps with her an unusual walking cane given to her by a member of her act.

Born Della Augusta Romaine, she began dancing at the age of eight and started her show business career on the New York stage. After touring in musical comedy shows, she married Texan John H. Prince and left the stage.

Prince was a native of the Panhandle. At one time he was owner of the only bus line between Amarillo and Denver. The couple spent many of their more than 30 years of married life in Canyon, where Prince was with the Park and Recreation Department. Several years ago they moved to Pleasanton. Their niece is Mrs. Norris Root of Canyon. For almost five months Mrs. Prince has been a resident of La Casa Canyon, where she entertains friends and guests with stories of show business.

Film is narrated by "Cotton John" Smith of KGNC-TV, Amarillo.

FORMER MUSICAL COMEDY performer and ballerina Mrs. Della Prince, of La Casa Canyon Convalescent Home, danced in stage shows as Della Romaine.

DR. ROBERT C. BURTON and wife Jean relax at home with their family before heading out again for Little League practice. Sons are Randy 11, and Roger, 10. Daughters are Jana, 9, and Jill, 5. The Burtons have returned to Canyon after two years in Albuquerque.

Move Home Adventure For Robert Burton Family

BY LINDA LOVE

Mrs. Robert Burton smiled, shaking her head at the memory of Dr. Burton shaving in the science building and showering at the swimming pool. "It was just one long comedy of errors," she sighed as she described the move home to Canyon after a two-year stay in Albuquerque. "But everyone's been so nice; you forget how wonderful a small town is," she added, obviously happy to be settled. Dr. Burton, associate professor of geology at West Texas State University, returned with his family June 7 for summer school, only to find they were unable to move into their home as they'd planned. The wait ended June 16, following a variety of adventures and misadventures.

It all began when the 18house guests left Sunday, the sixth. Burton had just received his Ph.D. in geology from the University of New Mexico, and his wife Jean had completed teaching second grade in an Albuquerque school for Indian, Spanish and Negro children.

All clothing for the family of six was stacked neatly in the back of the station wagon. The Burtons have two boys, Randall, 11, and Roger, 10, and two girls, Jana, 9, and Jill, 5.

"The kids just couldn't wait to get back," Mrs. Burton commented as one of the girls scurried in with a friend.

After several mishaps Dr. Burton and the boys, in a rented van, and Mrs. Burton and the girls, in the car, were on a lonely shortcut between Tucumcari and Hereford when the car had a blowout. The spare, hiding under all the clothes, had no air in it. Thanks to the school superintendent of a tiny town nearby, the tire was filled and the family arrived in Canyon at 1 a.m. Spending the night at a motel, Dr. Burton went to work the next morning as the rest of the family untangled clothes.

"Then we found that because of rains, the people who were living in our house couldn't move. Their home wasn't finished yet," explained Mrs. Burton.

Mrs. Bill Anderson invited the boys to stay with her. Both members of the Little League Astros, Randall is a pitcher while Roger plays third base and left field.

Mrs. Burton and the girls stayed in Borger with Dr. Burton's parents, commuting at times to Canyon. Joe Hooper offered to store the furniture in his Pueblo Number One, which was without water or electricity, and Dr. Burton slept there.

Now, however, the family is moved into its home and the children have been busy renewing acquaintances and playing ballgames.

"And it's nice to be back to such a friendly small town. You know, even the garbage men are so helpful; they never were in the city," Mrs. Burton said. "Yes the garbage men impressed me especially. It's nice to be back."

Curbs Visit In Colorado

Mr. and Mrs. J.C. Curb have returned from visits with their son and daughter in Colorado.

In Denver, they visited their son, Leslie, and his family and then went to Colorado Springs, where they stayed with their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Boyd.

While in Colorado Springs, the Curb's grandson, Johnny Glenn Boyd, graduated from junior high school.

Mrs. Robert Allen of Dallas spent several weeks visiting with her son and family, Mr. and Mrs. R.B. Allen of Canyon. Mrs. Allen returned home last week end.

Church Slates Teacher Course

Central Church of Christ in Canyon is currently making plans for a Teacher Training Course, to begin next Wednesday, July 14.

All Sunday morning Bible School teachers and prospective teachers are urged to plan to attend.

The class will meet each Wednesday evening at regular church time, 7:30, for eight weeks. Herman Alexander, pastor of the church, will instruct the class.

Final Rites Held For Mrs. Neff

Funeral services for Mrs. Ora Lock Neff were conducted Tuesday morning at LaGrone Funeral Chapel in Canyon.

Mrs. Neff, 60, died July 2 at Emanuel Hospital in Omaha, Nebraska. Former residents of Canyon, the Neffs moved to Omaha in 1945.

A former teacher at the Demonstration School in Canyon, Mrs. Neff received her bachelor's degree from West Texas State University, attended Texas Christian University, and received the master's degree from the University of Omaha.

Mrs. Neff was a member of the American Association of University Women and a member of Dundee Presbyterian Church of Omaha.

Born August 21, 1904 at Memphis, Mrs. Neff became the bride of Felix Neff on March 21, 1927 at Marfa.

Dr. Joe Findley officiated at funeral services Tuesday with interment at Dreamland Cemetery. Serving as pall bearers were Glenn Dowlen, W. E. Miller, Lee Foster, James Cole, Lyle Kuhnley, and Bailey Bandy. Alternate pall bearers were Clarence Thompson and Don Standley.

Survivors include her husband, Felix, of Omaha; two sons, Edward Carl Neff of New Orleans, Louisiana and Earl Lock Neff of Boise, Idaho; one daughter, Mrs. Sue Lane Bennett of St. Louis, Missouri; her mother, Mrs. J. H. Lock, of Marfa; a brother, Dudley Lock of Marfa; and seven grandchildren.

Boy Scouts Tapped For OA Honors

Six Boy Scout honor campers from Canyon have been tapped for membership in Order of the Arrow.

The scouts will assume membership in Llano Estacado council OA lodge following ordeal ceremonies in August.

Tapped for membership are scouts Curtis O'Donald and Rodger Wilson of troop 108, and Pat Jarrett, Al Carleton, and Ronnie Russell of troop 66. Lee Roy Moreland, scoutmaster of troop 66, was tapped for adult membership.

Order of the Arrow is the national brotherhood of Scout campers. The honor is bestowed on a Scout by his fellow campers when he has proved himself worthy of receiving it.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Sheffy spent last week end vacationing at Ruidoso, New Mexico.

W. E. "WINDY" MILLER admires the cake given him last Thursday by the post office staff as he began his fortieth year of work. Miller has served 25 years as rural mail carrier, following 15 years as clerk. Since the first three months of his career in Amarillo, Miller has worked in Canyon.

Mr. and Mrs. J.W. Morris were in Temple recently to visit their son, Howard, and family.

They also visited in Hale Center with his father, A.J. Morris, who underwent a leg amputation recently.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Morris have returned from a week's convention in Miracle Valley, Arizona.

The Morris report that his father, A. J. Morris, of Halfway is improving at a Hale Center hospital.

SECTION 3

Modern Pork Plant Opening

RUSSELL FOWLER PORK FACTORY, which opens this week end two miles south and one mile west of Canyon, will house some 600 Specific Pathogen Free sows. These sows will produce 1,000 22-pound starter pigs monthly, and the pigs will be sold locally to finishers.

Disease-Free Pigs To Be Raised Here

One of the world's largest and most modern feeder pig production plants will hold open house Saturday and Sunday as Russell Fowler Pork Factory of Canyon prepares for operation.

Open house is scheduled for July 10, 2-6 p.m. and July 11, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., two miles south and a mile west of Canyon on Eighth Street. Following this the factory will begin production, and the public will not be permitted to visit the animals, due to the disease-free nature of the operation.

Admission for the openhouse will cost $1 for adults, with proceeds being donated to the Christian Men's Fellowship project for furnishing the chapel of the First Christian Church. Children will be admitted free.

The pork factory is designed to breed high quality pigs that will feed up rapidly, be highly disease resistant for a lower mortality rate, and develop a better quality of meat to bring higher prices on the market at maturity. The plant is composed of 600 disease-free, producing sows, with all modern automated equipment required to bring the resulting 1,000 pigs per month up to the feeder pig stage. The pigs will be sold locally to finishers.

US Needs Top Pork

American pork producers today are raising less than 35 per cent of the meat-type animals the consumer demands.

There has been marked interest in the last eight years by producers in developing a hog that will produce more lean meat and less lard. However, there is still a long way to go.

Colorado producers have been taking the lead in sending more quality pork to market, and now Texas is doing the same.

The American Hog Co. of Wiggins, Colorado, with a 1000 (SPF) sow herd, has been Colorado's leader in supplying breeding stock to key producers. Russell Fowler Pork Factory of Canyon purchased its breeding stock from American Hog.

Purpose of the Fowler Pork Factory is to make available through their 600 sow herd meat-type feeder pigs for farmers in the Golden Spread.

Big Dutchman Feeders Used By Fowler Plant

Big Dutchman Co. of Zeeland, Michigan, has a long history in livestock and poultry equipment business.

It has been known for attentiveness to progress in its field, and has contributed to research and extensive utilization of European feed methods as applied to American production.

Big Dutchman worked closely with American Hog Co. for five or six years in providing automatic feeding operations which will be used as well in the Fowler Pork Factory.

In this new method feed and water are served together in a carefully designed and controllable liquid ration. This facilitates ease of daily movement of the tons of feed and gets both feed and water supplied in one step.

Less equipment is employed as a result, with more uniform consumption accomplished by the sows. It allows control of diet, also. This will enable Fowler to keep sows for at least

RUSSELL N. FOWLER

Fowler Has Business Experience

Russell N. Fowler is relatively new to the hog industry, but he brings to his work many years of business experience and has gathered for its building men and companies qualified in every phase of the operation.

Fowler retired two years ago from a linen laundry and dry cleaning business. When he retired, he began working a small five years by regulating the size and preventing them from growing too large.

Full milling and ration capability is designed with commercial supplements being used. Local milo will be used at the rate of about 75,000 pounds per month.

Ration will be measured by electronic devices, blended accurately with additives and water, and piped underground to the animals. All elements will be administered on the basis of minimum daily nutrient requirement for each animal under her own special circum-

(See Big, Page 10)

Bard Ranch Supplies Design, Construction

Design, construction and coordination of Russell Fowler Pork Factory has been supplied by Bard Ranch, Inc., and its construction company, Vector Construction, both of Bard, New Mexico.

Bard has been active in providing research on nutrition, structures and facilities, equipment, management techniques, finance, sources of breeding stock and other supplies and advice in its service of the Fowler plant.

Bard Ranch was, from 1900 until recently, predominantly a family cattle ranch. Then, under the current presidency of Sid T. Shore, the ranch became involved in SPF hog production and began a 140 sow operation, the success of which led to Fowler's interest in such a business.

As the ranch became more involved in research and more experienced in utilization of the various methods and operations of such a plant, it became acquainted with the various special phases of construction of such a system. This prompted the training of its own company, Vector, in the specialized construction.

The result is a combination in corporation partners, who are Shore, his father, Moyers S. Shore, and a professional engineer, Robert D. Krause, of Santa Fe. Customers may now profit from this coupling of production standpoint and professional construction unit work.

Special building facilities provided by Vector cover nearly 30,000 square feet and have consumed 30,000 concrete blocks and 30,000 board feet of lumber in construction. The hogs will live on specially finished concrete floors with proper degree of roughness and slope in each case to accommodate baby pigs, sows and boars.

Insulation is carefully designed in floor, wall and ceiling to lower expense of temperature control. Heat is employed predominantly in the floor, and temperature is generally regulated by removing part of the tremendous heat generation of the animals themselves. Cooling is, in fact, the most common requirement, with evaporative coolers doing the job.

Air circulation is a critical (See Bard, Page 10)

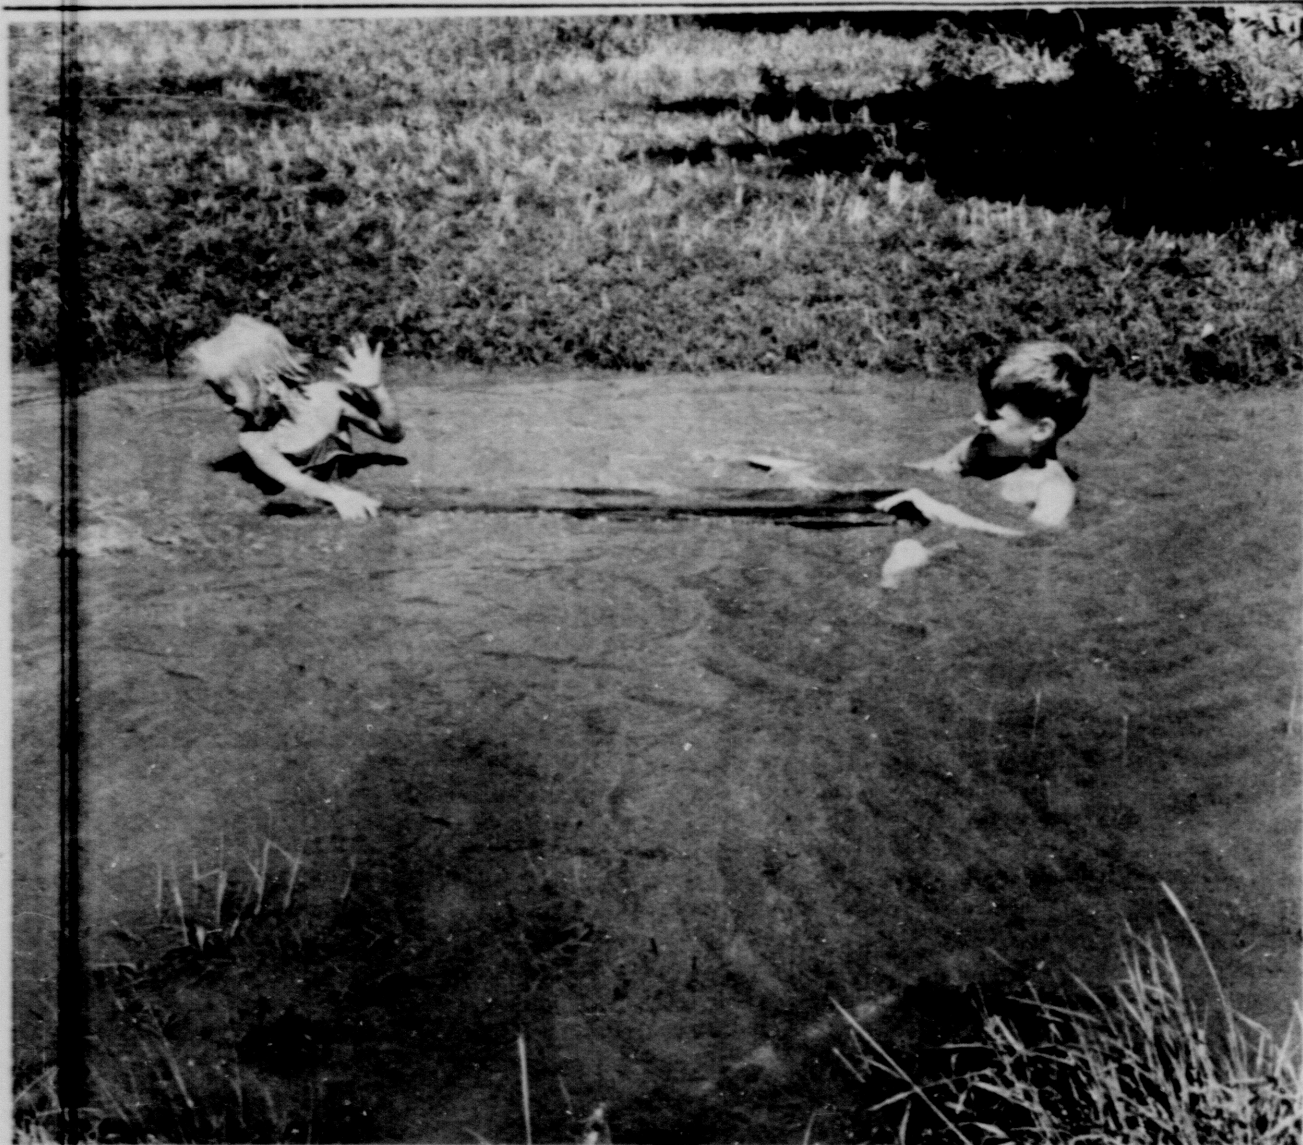

Special Flooring At Plant

Specially treated steel slatted floors are used in swine housing over waste gutters at the Fowler plant to accomplish pen clean-up and sewage removal.

In a finishing house or nursery the slats are placed adjacent to an outside wall. On the other end of the pen, heat coils are installed in the concrete floor. Since hogs desire a warm and dry area in which to sleep, the little pigs are drawn out from under the sow, setting up a cleanliness habit used in all buildings.

Psychology is thereby employed to cause the naturally tidy animal to keep his feed and bed area clean and have a waste area in a cooler spot that he

Sand Covers Man On Job

Gary C. Raines of Wichita Falls was injured in a sand spreader accident with a construction crew recently.

The accident occurred four miles west of Umbarger. Raines was reportedly attempting to push some dirt into the sand machine when he slipped, fell and was covered with sand.

He was taken by LaGrone Ambulance to Neblett Hospital and Clinic in Canyon where he was treated.

Visiting in the Arvin Triplett home this week were Mrs. Triplett's mother, Mrs. Frona Breath of Woodward, Oklahoma, and her sister, Mrs. Bert Root of Denver, Colorado.

Gun Safety Presented To 4-Hers

Ivan Dunsmore spoke to the Worker's 4-H club on guns and safety of firearms at their June meeting in Farm Bureau Building.

Dunsmore is a National Rifle Association Instructor from the YMCA in Amarillo. He told the 4-H'ers and their parents that guns must be handled correctly, and spoke on an NRA course to the members.

Ronnie Williams, vice-president, called the meeting to order.

Area Emerging As Fine Pork Country

The West Texas-New Mexico area is emerging as one of the finest hog producing regions of the nation, yet the Golden Spread produces only one sixth of its own pork requirements, according to spokesmen for the industry.

In such a region the future holds unlimited promise for an industry that has every reason to prosper, they say. Value of sorghum in feeding is being realized as second to none, and since this has not been a surplus feed producing area very long, such an industry as hog production is just beginning to create interest.

The Golden Spread has no hog congestion as do some areas, where a hog on every 40 acres presents problems. Marketing of definitely superior lean carcasses has been carried on with insatiable packer demand and premium prices, for only two per cent of the nation's pork needs are filled by lean type animals. Consumption would undoubtedly soar if more of this product were available.

Pork industry promises to bring multi-million dollar assistance to localeconomy in addition to bringing higher quality pork to Panhandle consumers. Grain crops may be marketed for about twice the return, when sold through pork. This has proven particularly interesting to areas where water or crop requirements mean marginal returns.

Milo maize is rated now practically equal to corn in nutritional value, excelling in some instances, and is much cheaper. Climate and excellent marketing location combine with the favorable health quotient to give the district a promising outlook in pork production.

In addition to having a vast local demand to supply, area hog producers will be in much better position to ship to West Coast markets than the more distant Corn Belt Finishers. General attitude in the fresh-minded Golden Spread is attuned to advanced and efficient agricultural methods, with resulting larger scale, industrially-oriented efficiency of production.

Controlled Environment methods assisted by disease-free livestock are certainly accepted now as the logical solution to increasing production requirements of pork. This streamlined approach is quite simply and logically the vehicle which

Pork Book

A new booklet of information for housewives in buying pork products has been published recently by the information service of the American Meat Institute.

Titled "Pocket Guide to Pork," the booklet was developed by the Institute to aid consumers with pork purchases, and is now available by mail.

The 36-page booklet includes over 20 color photographs and explanations of principal pork cuts and processed pork products, as well as detailed information on cookery of each pork cut. Nutritional values of various pork cuts are also included as a help to mothers concerned with proper nutrition for their families.

Copies of the booklet may be obtained from the American Meat Institute at 59 East Van Buren St., Chicago, Ill., 60605.

is carrying a "bib-overall" business into the realm of assembly line technique.

The every amusing little pig, with his highest feed conversion efficiency of all popular meat animals, ease of benetic packaging and resulting adaptability to man's design of production methods, is quite cooperative and content to do his part in the modern facilities.

Investments requirements tend to keep production in the hands of large financial accounts, and currently the high return is attracting many substantial investors. An increase in this incidence will assist the industry by securing a more reliable supply of higher quality product. Consumer acceptance has been absolute and the greatest requirement now appears to be increased supply.

Program New Here

Confinement production of pork on a liquid feeding program is relatively new in this country.

Europeans have been using these management techniques for many years. Now addition of American ingenuity to the European concept is improving the standard of pork production in this country.

More and more pork production will be achieved in "closed housing" with liquid feed. Pork production is following poultry and broiler industries in management and economics. Units will become larger with emphasis on feed conversions.

With research playing the key role in designing a complete system, two American companies, Big Dutchman of Zeeland, Michigan, and American Hog Co., are now recognized world leaders in the area of pork production.

Here are the more important

Breeding Stock From Lubbock

Lubbock Swine Breeders, Inc., will provide Fowler Pork Factory with boars for breeding stock.

The breeding corporation, directed by Euel Liner, manager, and assistant manager Roger Poage, has placed breeding stock in 19 states and two foreign countries. Liner himself has judged hogs throughout the nation.

Lubbock Swine Breeders handles only SPF stock, in three lines, Duroc, Yorkshire, and Hampshire. Breeding stock consists predominantly of boars, but females are handled advantages of a confinement liquid feeding system:

- A. Better feed conversions
- B. Hogs require less square footage of floor space
- C. No feed waste
- D. Simple means of feeding
- E. Medications can be given more simply
- F. Bloody scours appear to be less prevalent as well.

Liner is widely recognized as a leading breeder of hogs, and he is as far along on genetics work as any other breeder in the nation.

Liner had the International Grand Champion Barrow in Chicago last fall, and in the last issue of national publication Hog Farm Management received a special salute.

He is the second man in history to receive the Royal Order of the Silken Purse, an honor bestowed by the National Livestock and Meat Board, representing Texas as a leader in swine breeding. Liner has earned the title "Mr. Hog."

Disease. . .

The key to these unique features of the plant is SPF, or Specific Pathogenic Free production of pigs. This is a laboratory method of securing feeding and caring for pigs in a way that has virtually stamped out two of the most prevalent pig diseases, atrophic rhinitis and pig pneumonia.

While these two diseases do not affect the quality of meat produced, both of them suppress the amount of meat produced from a given weight of food, and lower the animal's resistance to many other diseases. By ridding his herd of these two diseases, the producer can insure more rapid weight gain, high quality of animal, more economic production and greater profit on his feeder operation.

Bacteria activity becomes the operator's greatest concern, and buildup is kept at a minimum for best results. Specific Pathogen Free operation requires that possible infestation of the herd not be brought about by visiting pathogens, so all persons entering the fenced area will shower and change clothing.

Insidious hog diseases being discriminated against are instrumental in reducing many conventional operations to low profit ventures. The first generation SPF pig is taken by laboratory means and never comes conscientiously uses. This factor reduces a large maintenance cost that has been a profit shrinker in many operations.

Trenches beneath the slats hold waste until bacterial reactions have taken place, forming a sludge. This product overflows into a lagoon located away from the building.

Some producers utilize waste products as fertilizer. Irrigation farmers usually run the material into their irrigation water.

in contact with his mother or any other conventional hog. Succeeding generations are produced by natural service and birth and have tolerance and resistance like that of any other hog. The herd can then generate itself disease free if normal precautions are taken to keep the particular pathogens out of the confine.

Boars used by the plant will be supplied by Euell Liner, of the Lubbock Swine Breeders Inc. Liner has worked consistently with American Hog Co., developers of the SPF herd, and showed the International Grand Champion Barrow at Chicago this year.

The little pigs are weaned at 21 days following a closely scheduled and concentrated program of tooth clipping, ear notching, castration, vaccination and nutrition attention. By the fourth week the pigs are in the nursery and the sows are back in their gestation building. Sows will remain in the herd to be rebred.

By the 28th day, when the pigs are prepared for sale as starters, their advance preparation in disease free surroundings in combination with their genetic quality helps them outdo most conventional hogs in the race to market.

There will be two 144'x38' buildings for the sow herd at the Fowler plant, two 158'x30' farrowing buildings, two 60'x26' nurseries of staging houses, and the mill-feed preparation building.

Under the SPF system very responsible technicians are required to do the high calibre work. Herdsman for the Fowler operation will be Denny Edmondson. He will be aided by a feed man and a farrowing man.

Fowler plans to double capacity as soon as complete operation is successfully achieved and stabilized. He hopes to develop an extensive marketing program in the Golden Spread, and eventually to reach producer-finisher-packer contracts similar to those enjoyed by original American Hog Co. enterprises.

Bard. . . .

necessity, as the extreme concentration of individuals requires a constant source of fresh air. In the gestation building, for instance, 50 tons of animals spend their time. This mass of living tissue is serviced for fresh air by 42,000 cubic foot per minute fans that can evacuate the 38,000 cubic foot building once every minute. Thermostats regulate air flow and temperature automatically based on the different classes of hogs. Air temperature control is regulated not only according to these requirements, but in relation to eating habits in order to keep feed costs to a minimum.

Sanitation is of great importance, and planning for this function begins with design and follows through to operation. Water and disinfectant under pressure has proven the most popular cleanser, so buildings are built with sloping floors, gutters and drain, water proof fixtures and wettable surfaces. Fumigation will be employed periodically to reach the few places that water will not go.

Specially constructed, high quality slatted steel floors were furnished for the Fowler plant by Behlan Manufacturing Co. of Columbus, Nebraska, through George Finley, territorial manager of Texas for Behlan.

ager of Texas for Behlan.

Bard's functions now are many and varied, but they serve the customer in something of a managerial way, providing workers, keeping on top of research, locating sources of finance and planning future marketing. While with the opening of the Fowler Pork Factory the business will be independent, Bard will continue to research, especially in the important field of nutrition, and in other ways keep the customer in mind while employing professional means of introducing continual progress into the factory operation.

Sid Shore, who will continue as advisor, has recently moved to Amarillo, where he will open an office to serve the Panhandle area through the unique combination of talent in his organization.

Baysinger Is Director

Construction supervisor for Vector Construction Co. is Bill Baysinger, who has a total of 22 years experience in light and heavy construction in all phases.

Experience includes concrete, steel, block, brick and framer work. Baysinger is equipped to supervise construction of agricultural, residential, commercial, bridge and highway work.

Less than a year ago Sid Shore, president of Bard Ranch, Inc., and Herman Tripp, vice-president of American Hog Co., appeared in Amarillo in a meeting sponsored by the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce. Fowler attended the meeting with other hog raisers and became interested as Shore and Tripp described the new production process.

He contacted Shore and with his assistance worked out plans for the factory in Canyon, making trips around the country to visit other operations.

Hog Industries Make Favorable Investment

A supplementary hog enterprise can compete favorably in terms of capital investment with many other livestock and poultry projects, according to authorities on the subject.

In orienting the hog in what has been predominately a cow country, it is interesting to observe that operations like the Fowler business invest less than $400 per sow unit, while the return in such operations has been $80 to $140 per sow.

This may be compared with a typical investment for commercial cattle of more than $1000, with net returns doing well to reach $50 per cow. This rapid development is due large-

Camp Sign-up Deadline Set

First Methodist Church has announced a July 19 deadline for registration for Elementary V and VI camp.

The camp will be held July 26-30 at Ceta Canyon with Rev. Raymond Dyess of Stratford as director. Boys and girls eligible to attend are those who have completed the fifth and sixth grades.

Cost of attending the camp is $15, with one-half the amount paid by the church.

According to church officials, workers for the camp are also needed, in order for all campers to attend. Persons wishing to work with this age group in camp are asked to call the church office, OL 5-2540 or Mrs. Eddie Holcomb, OL 5-3074.

Hilgenfelds Have Guests

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Hilgenfeld held a family dinner at their home Sunday with their son and daughters attending.

Later in the afternoon, the group gathered at the J.W. Fain home for ice cream.

Guests for the occasion were, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Burkhalter of Las Vegas, Nevada and their daughter, Kathy, and Mrs. Burkhalter's son, Bill Anthony; Mr. and Mrs. John Hilgenfeld and sons, Ross and Walter, of Dallas; Mr. and Mrs. Ross Yarbrough, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Golden and children, Becky and Kevin, Sue Cook and son, Shawn, Mr. and Mrs. J.W. Fain and Betty Childress of Canyon.

Fall Injures Canyon Girl

Shirley Ann Platt, 19-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Platt, suffered injuries in a fall from a horse Monday afternoon.

The accident occurred at the Palo Duro Club, northeast of Canyon, when Miss Platt slipped and fell from a horse she was riding.

Miss Platt was treated at Neblett Hospital and Clinic in Canyon for a broken left arm. The arm was fractured just below the elbow. She remained at the hospital overnight and is reported to be improving this week.

Dr. and Mrs. Raymond Henders and children, Gary, Greg, and Neil, visited over the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Henders, Sr. Dr. Henders and family are residents of Columbus, Missouri.

ly to speed of genetic change in hogs, with due credit going to temperament of hogs and their ease of confinement.

Carcass improvement in swine has long been the goal of all interested in livestock genetic advancement. Now lean pork meets consumer demands and brings a premium for quality. This results from research, proper design of facilities and good management. Use of specialists in these fields leads to the emergence of a fine industry for the Plains States.

Swine production enterprises have shown their best response to high levels of management. If it is to be efficient and profitable, good management practices regarding feeding and nutrition, disease control and other phases of production and marketing must be followed.

Amount of capital investment required depends on the kind of building and equipment used, degree of mechanization, and size of operation. Some farmers may be able to convert existing equipment and hold capital investments to a minimum.

Labor requirements for hogs are generally less than for many other enterprises; however, this depends upon the type of undertaking, production pattern and physical facilities.

Hi-Lean Trademark For SPF Quality

It was American Hog Company of Wiggins, Colorado, which made successful Hi-Lean breeding stock, from which the Fowler Pork Factory herd will come.

Hi-Lean is the now well-known registered trademark for the hog which is Specific Pathogen Free to improve feed efficiency. Premium meat-type carcasses, large litters and fast-growth characteristics have been bred into the herd.

Herman Tripp, vice-president of American Hog Co., has been the focal point of the company's work with SPF. From Iowa originally, Tripp worked in the SPF laboratory in Conrad, Iowa, which produced the Hi-Lean parent herd while operating under license of the University of Minnesota.

His subsequent move to Colorado to put to additional use the genetic improvements already found led to creation of one of the biggest seed stock producing companies in the nation. American Hog Co. is now in the process of expanding to some 3,000 producing sows.

Hi-Lean has proven itself in every way as trademark of top quality carcasses, and American Hog is now engaged in an extensive marketing program which includes contracts involving producer, finisher and packer.

American Hog considers the laboratory process begun in Iowa a necessary first step "to break the disease chain" that causes many commercial herds to become uneconomical. When the parent herd is used as breeding stock, however, the secondary herd is produced by natural birth, making ideal breeding stock for a commercial operation. They combine the "disease-free" advantage of their parents with the strength and disease resistance received from their mothers' milk.

Until the Fowler plant was begun, the predominant SPF effort was being made by American Hog, which stocked a 140-sow operation at Bard, New Mexico. Success of this venture prompted the Fowler plan, and it was through Bard Ranch, Inc., that American Hog became interested in the West Texas area. Now the company has become aware of the potential of the Golden Spread and has made itself available for supplying large orders of top quality to factories such as Fowler's.

Beards Home From Colorado

Mr. and Mrs. T.E. Beard returned last Saturday from a two-week stay at Gunnison, Colorado.

While in Colorado on a study course at Western State College the couple went sightseeing and fishing in the area. Mr. Beard took the mathematics course while Mrs. Beard studied the library course.

"We found the area to be delightful, and were southwest of the flooded area although the rivers and creeks around Gunnison were filled to the brim," commented Mrs. Beard.

Visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Hinger during the Fourth of July was their son, Lt. Craig Hinger, from Fort Hood, Texas.

Also visiting in the Hinger home was their daughter's family, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Cutcher of Lubbock, and the family of Mrs. Hinger's sister, Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Biggers of Pampa.

Visiting with Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Reno have been Mrs. Kenneth Ringo and children, Ken, Cynthia, and Debbie of Leveland.

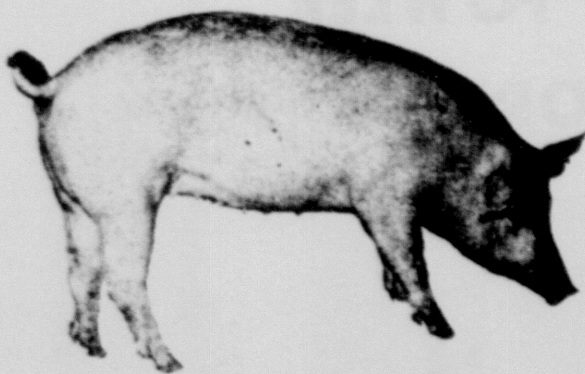

The Reno's grandchildren, Kay, Mike and Glen Reno, of Clayton, New Mexico also visited several days last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Curt Samples have returned from LaHunta, Colorado where they visited with their son, Curtis, Jr., for several days.

Curtis is home from South America where he has been working with an electrical survey group for the past two years.

An Exciting Project Begins

Only
The Beginning

In the past several months plans have been discussed, drawn up, and now have taken form in the newest, most modern pork factory in the southwest.

Vector Construction Company and Bard Ranch, Inc., both of Bard, New Mexico, have been an integral part of these plans.

Under the supervision of Bard Ranch, Inc., the pork factory was designed with this particular operation in mind.

Vector Construction Company then took over and began construction of the buildings.

Sid Shore, president of the Bard Ranch, has directed the complete project from the first planning sessions through the actual construction.

But the project has just begun. The open house Saturday and Sunday is only the beginning for this new industry.

We are proud of the part we have played in this exciting and challenging project.

We invite each of you to attend the open house and view this unique pork factory. We urge you to inspect each building and see how this DISEASE FREE pork factory will operate.

Anyone interested in this type of operation may contact Sid Shore in Amarillo at DR 4-8247 or write 3102 Julian, Apt. 71 in Amarillo.

Big Pike Biting In Canadian Lake

Six Canyon people have just returned from Flin Flon, Canada, reporting fine luck in fishing for great northern pike in Lake Atha Papuska there.

In the party were Dr. W. J. Wooten and Ronnie, Aubrey Crossland and Kenny and Billy Dan and Oscar Hinger.

The party left Canyon June 19 and ran into the flooding Arkansas River at Garden City, Kan. They detoured around Garden City and beat the flood crest to Dodge City by three hours.

"They were putting up sand bags at Dodge City when we went through there," Dr. Wooten related.

Lake Atha Papuska is in Manitoba and Saskatchewan Provinces of Canada. The Canyon group fished at Bakers Narrows.

Everyone had good luck catching pike up to 30 inches in length, Dr. Wooten reported. "We gave away as much as 50 pounds of fish a day," he declared.

They remained at Flin Flon four days. "We found good camping facilities," Wooten declared.

"Canadians are really catering to US people," he went on. "We saw more US licenses at Flin Flon than Canadian licenses."

The group left Flin Flon and struck south through the central part of Saskatchewan Province.

There they saw forests being cleared to make way for agriculture.

Along the way they saw signs inviting homesteading.

"The wheat crop is excellent all through Saskatchewan and Manitoba," Dr. Wooten declared.

The Canyon group dropped into the US and spent some time at Yellowstone National Park fishing for trout. "Trotting couldn't have been better in Lake Yellowstone," Dr. Wooten declared. "We found trout alley. It was out of this world."

The travelers reported high water all across the north central part of the US. Rivers and streams were flooding everywhere.

The party made it back to Canyon Thursday night of last week.
